

More Swingers Lifestyle Info

Swinging tends to be popular...

As swinging tends to be very popular and more popular day by day, no one really can be certain how many people are involved. According to the latest worldwide statistic more than 10 million people say openly "I am a swinger". Without numbers we can say that, there are more swingers than you could hope to meet in several lifetimes, and the numbers grow daily.

What sort of people are we likely to meet in swinging?

Any type, any age, any race and any occupation.

How can I start?

The best way is to go directly to a swingers club. There will be real people less pressure, and more options. All of them are there for the same reason. Looking for adult fun. And, don't just go once, there will probably be different people in attendance at different times. If you can't find clubs nearby or simply looking for a new experience, try the Internet. You are reading this title now so you already know how to find a competitive partner on the net! Browse through this site and try us!

Where to I should post our personal ad?

It's easy enough to find sites that claim to be meeting places for swingers, it's too easy, in fact, for there are hundreds out there. Our best advice, try us. You can try us free. You will have one full page ad and to the other page you can post a picture. You will have a private mail box and you can leave a voice mail too. When your trial period is over, you can make a decision, take it, or leave it. No questions will be asked. If you do not like our service try to avoid web sites that aren't honest up front about their requirements and charges. Finally, we suggest that a site that keeps pestering the viewer with additional windows or that is difficult to exit is probably not going to prove as sincere as you might prefer. Before you post your ad please read our ad writing ideas.

Are You Curious About The Swingers Lifestyle?

Are you looking for no commitment sex?

It is very easy to meet other open minded curious couples, but what about after that. If you would like to know, keep reading.

You have find a curious couple or a single person. You have exchanged pictures and some basic information. You and your partner, spouse think that person or couple is hot.

Now both of you ready to a challenge. Both of you ready to go out on a date, as you did in your teenage age. Doesn't it excite you already? You'll go out on a date with you partner to meet someone for a very erotic reason. Where you should go? And what are you supposed to talk about?

Where you should go? Anywhere, to a public place. A quiet restaurant is best. Quiet, because you guys are going to have to make more than few things clear. You should have done a lot of talking, but should not jump into a deep water immediately, don't start to talk about sex right a way. Have a drink and dinner. A drink might help to relax. While you eat just go with the flow, talk about every day's things, like with your friends. Take your time to get to know the others. By that time the dinner is over, you should feel, that there is any chemistry or there is not. If you think there is no chemistry, you still should give it one more try. Set up another meeting, somewhere else, for example a dance club. However, if there is some vibe then you should talk about sex. You have to know their lifestyle experiences and you have to know their rules. Also they have to know your experiences and your rules. Rules like safe sex, same room sex, sex in separate room, soft swing, full swap, sex with two partners etc. It is very important to be honest about your experiences and your expectations. If you are a first timer let them know. Everyone was a first timer once.

So you want to have threesome?

Do you like to take things to extremes? Would like to get "wild"? Want to have sex with multiply partners? Well, if your answer is yes, than please keep reading.

If you are experienced in three way sexual relationship, you do not need advice. Because you are here, I guess though that you don't have too much experience.

Threesomes are the same as everything else in the life. First you have to learn what to do and how to do it, and then practice it. Practice makes it perfect.

For a threesome we need three people. Usually a couple build a three way relationship with a third person.

The idea of let's have a threesome usually sparks out from the males brain. It does happen because all the males are genetically designed to this way. One of the old gene controls the male's brain. If a healthy man meets with a pretty woman, sooner or later he will imagine her as a sex partner. The old gene wants to make the man spread the life's seed.

Women are genetically designed to nurture and love. Their focus was to build a nest. To take care of the family that their mating has produced. It used to be this way, but not anymore. This female gene doesn't work that way how it used to be 50 years ago.

Today's women has same sexual freedom as men. In a lot of cases ladies wish to consider adding third person, - male or female - sexual pleasures to their sex life.

How do you introduce your threesome idea to your mate?

To help we have added two threesome sex tips related section to our website. One of them created for ladies and the other for gentlemen.

Why would you try a threesome?

Imagine you and your spouse. You might have been in a relationship for years, living together or maybe married, make no difference. One day you start to develop erotic fantasies, or your spouse does. These fantasies include you and someone else outside of your relationship... Now what? Should you tell this to your mate or shouldn't? If you do tell, how will your spouse respond to this?

Type Of Swingers

Are there different level of swingers? Are there different level of swinging? If you would like to know the answers, please read the following.

We have collected the next info on the web, and does not necessarily reflect our views about swinging and swingers. However, it does give some important info about swingers and swinging type.

CAUTIOUS SWINGERS: They are sometimes, but not always first timer or "newbie". They realize this is an important step in a relationship, and want to take their time. Others must respect their limits and pace. While many females are rather reluctant to get involved in swinging, once they do, they generally accept initial experiences more successfully than males. Women are usually either enthusiastic converts or completely turned off by the experience. Generally, cautious swingers are relatively selective when they first become involved. Curious swingers may test the lifestyle several times over many years before trying the swinging lifestyle.

RECREATIONAL SWINGERS: Recreational swingers swing as a social activity. Like others play cards or baseball. They want to develop friendships as well as swinging relationships. Swinging is more than sex to them. Recreational swingers may drop in and out of swinging for short or long periods of time. Swinging is not a full part of their lifestyle.

SALVAGE SWINGERS: Salvage swingers participate in swinging to relieve boredom with marital sex. For them swinging is a method of adding new excitement to the marriage, perhaps even salvaging it. Most swingers know couples who have tried to salvage a bad marriage by swinging, but they argue that this generally has not been very successful. Most swingers believe that swinging alone cannot save a bad marriage, however they do believe that it can strengthen a good marriage.

PREDATOR SWINGERS: Predator swingers can be male or female, single or couple and are typically found preying on the first timer swingers. In many cases this type of swinger is not well liked or even swing amongst their peers. Since first timer swingers are relatively uninformed, they are perfect for the predator. Predators are the easiest swinger to spot at any party, they will enter rooms time and time again without being invited or bringing a mate, they will continue to play when told NO, they will join a large group without being seen or invited. Predator swingers will lie in their ads and

Why Do People Swing?

A male swinger, who had exclusive sexual relations with a spouse for many years responded as follows.

You start to wonder year after year a little bit more about if you could possibly make it with another gal, what would it be like, you want a little bit of variety, you don't love your partner any less but you want something a little bit deterrent. Just the newness of it, the experience with another person is very electrifying. It charges you up. It gives you something that you just can't get from someone that you know very, very well even though you may love them dearly. You just can't it under those circumstances. With swinging you have the opportunity to meet other people. You go with someone and have a sexual experience with someone else and no one thinks less of you for it.

Some think "Oh, horror, that's supposed to be terrible".

Well it isn't terrible and if you're free enough to allow your partner to have the same freedom, then this is fine. It used to be taken for granted that the man could go out and get himself a gal here and there and not too much flap came from this, but if the woman did it "Oh, that's terrible and horrible". I can't accept that as being horrible and neither can my wife accept it as being horrible.

As far as we're concerned, it is a good way to charge yourself up once in a while and get yourself an experience that you just can't get any other way. Your experiences with someone else enhance your own sexual experiences with your own partner. There are just some things you can't do with your own, you have to get them from outside sources.

face to face if they feel they can get what they want. Predators can be very pushy or aggressive and sometimes make you feel uncomfortable to talk with. Some predators are smooth talkers. There are not too many out there and most swingers community are very efficient at keeping them in line or OUT! All swingers should fully respect your feelings and right to say NO! No one will tell you that they are a predator, but you should be able to recognize the type.

SINGLE SPOUSE SWINGERS: They believe in a double standard, one partner is more involved than the other in the lifestyle. Many single spouse swingers have conflicts between each other about actually swinging. They may call themselves swingers but in truth, one partner finds the lifestyle improper or disgusting while the other partner wants to be a part of the swinging lifestyle. Sometimes, the wife/husband will be having sexual relations with other partners, because the female/male may have had sexual relations outside the marriage with another partner previously. Also in some cases couples getting together and only one spouse participating, because the others do not feel comfortable. They are only there to please their spouse and not themselves. Most one sided swingers never actually swing or one partner may take liberties on their own.

HARD CORE SWINGERS: Hard Core Swingers have XXX in their mind and get down to the basics of sex with other couples as soon as possible. Many hard core swingers will play and have sexual intercourse with one or many partners. Hardcore don't need to be friends, and may not even need to know each other names. They believe swinging is just pure sex, and will generally only meet with other swingers to have sex only.

All swingers type by definition, fall into one of these two categories

SOFT SWINGERS: Soft swingers (soft swing) will generally engage in most sexual activities, excluding penetration. Soft swingers will both play to their mutual comfort levels. Many soft swingers will play or get sexually aroused with other couples and then partner up with their own mate for intercourse.

FULL SWAP SWINGERS: Full swap swingers engage in all forms of sex including penetration, but may have other guidelines they follow such as same room sex, size of groups, etc...

HEAD GAMERS: They may call themselves swingers but in truth, they aren't swingers. They thinking about swinging and looking for swingers partner. They will exchange emails and pictures maybe go to the first meeting, but if the things get to serious, than they'll back off. Few days or weeks later they start again. They are just waste of time.

How to swing. Swinging tips for "new" couples & singles.

So you want to get into the lifestyle. Would you like to become a swinger? What did you do about it?

You've browsed the internet for no commitment sex personals. Contacted people, exchanged photos and you think you have find a great couple or few competitive singles. What do you should do now?

It can feel like you are a teenager again and you just start to dating. You need to impress your new dating partner or partners.

Before you jump into anything crazy, you should know few things...

Setting up a meeting in a non-pressure environment is the best place to begin. Non - pressure stand for public place, something like a classy restaurant or a coffee shop. You should not meet in a swingers club, or in a strip bar. These places too erotic, too sex oriented and you would like to talk with your new friends in pressure free normal setting. You should choose a quiet place (no loud music) where you can to talk openly.

How should you dress

Men should wear dress pants, nice shirt and dress shoes. Remember, you want to impress. Jacket or tie is not necessary, unless the restaurant have dress code. Women need to to impress too. Ladies should be as sexy as possible. Should not be afraid to show some skin without looking like a professional sex business worker. But it depends on you meeting place. You want to look like everyone else in that restaurant or bar.

I hope I don't have to say that you should take showers, shave, trim and wear a little solid perfume. Ladies should put on a nice makeup and minimal amount of jewellery. Arrive on time.

Swingers Sex Personals

So you are there. All of you sat down and start to talk. Should order some drinks and should talk about everyday things, families, job, movies etc. Any subject might do at this time, you just need to see how can you and your new "friends" communicate.

If they are or you are sitting in silence, then it might not be a good sign for a no commitment sexual relationship. You don't need to be a genius to figure it out, if nobody say a word, than something is wrong. Watch you alcohol "intake. Alcohol might make you say things, that you should not say.

You should generally be able to see if this lifestyle and your new dating partner is you. You should feel like they are your old friend, and or you should find your new dating partner(s) attractive. Some swingers call this "Chemistry".

If the Chemistry is there...

You should feel good about each other and if you you want to make the next step, you should to start talking about it. Talk about what you want in a no commitment sexual relationship and see where the conversation goes. You should talk about your rules and should ask your new friend's rule for example, same room fun, safe sex, etc. You should not be shine, you should know what you expect from your new friends, and they should know what you would like to put into this new erotic, swinging relationship. When I wrote what you would like to into this relationship, your penis wasn't in my mind...

If everything works out fine, you might go to a hotel room with your new friend(s) or set up a other meeting.

One more thing

You should be prepared for any situation. You should have few condoms in your packet or in your purse and or a hand bag in your car with soap, toothpaste, perfume, clean underwear, etc. in. Never know when you going to need them...

Remember how sex was when you and your spouse first get into the bed? It was great and satisfying every time. But since that first time, years past by and sex became routine. So what can you do?

There are 3 ways to go. The first is the simplest and the safest. Pop a porn DVD into your DVD player, turn your fantasy on and start to masturbate. If you want to get kinky, do it in the presence of your spouse.

The second is safe too: Educate yourself. Learn technique to take your sex to another level. Learn how to be a Sex God. There are millions of things that will bring the spark back in your bedroom.

The third one is the best one and a dangerous one. You have to take a walk to the wild site! You have to introduce a third person or a couple into your spousal relationship. Well not like this, first you have to get familiar with this situation first, after your partner have to get familiar with it. How you start? Well you have to talk a lot and talk some more... I have created earlier a "Threesome advice page" for first timer; you can find there everything that you need to know how to have a threesome.

And now you and you spouse have to find a willing person or couple. This is not to hard these days. There are millions of men and women looking for no commitment sex partners. Probably even in your neighborhood too. Take a quick look at our sex ads and you will see what I talking about. What'll happen if you met a great single guy or girl that you both really like? What about a great couple? What if you introduce them into your bed? What if you share with them your loving relationship? Would it spice up your sexual activity? I guess you never will know, if you won't try...

However there are a lot of things that you need to know, before you get down to the erotic action. You do not looking for permanent relationship, you looking for casual sex partner - to share - and to spice your sex life up. You and your spouse run the show. You ask your new friend to join in and when it's time to move on, you have to know when and how to kiss them good-bye. Because if your relationship is to survive there has to be an exit strategy to be agreed on before your even start.

There are many reasons why a couple will invite another in to their relationship. For example boring routine spousal sex, differences in sex drive erotic fantasies, etc. The number one reason always was the excitement, the feeling of freedom in the spousal relationship and extra intensity of the sex. Almost every person who tried it felt like a teenager again...

Is it worth to try? You decide...

Swingers Party Rules

What should you do if somebody invited to you to an erotic swingers party?

Respond to all Invitations. All invitations should be answered in a week. It doesn't mean reply only if you plan to attend. Good etiquette and good social courtesy demand you respond, by calling, writing (email) to say clear yes or no.

Bring something or don't?

Never go empty handed to someone's house party. Ask from the host if there is something you can bring and ask the dressing code too. If everyone will wear pajamas, you should not wear a fancy dress.

At the party:

The most important thing is to have a good time and enjoy yourself. Relax, even if you do not know everyone there. Try to become as at ease as you would be at charity bingo. Don't hesitate to introduce yourselves to other people, but don't be pushy. Be prepared to handle rejection but don't take it personally. It is important to remember that personal choice is the right of every individual and to respect that right is only common courtesy. Learn how to accept "no thank you" graciously. Your approach, which should be the same as it would be at the charity bingo party, is a key factor to your acceptance as a desirable partner. There are several variations to swinging and it is important that you and your mate decide, in advance, those which you like and dislike. Some couples prefer to be alone, while others prefer to be with other couples, etc. Establish your own rules, but please decide on them before you go that house party. Not only establish, but keep those rules!

Alcohol and drugs:

No drugs at all. Period. When it comes to alcohol, most of the swingers do not mind a drink or two, to calm the nerves. That's fine, but drink in moderation. If you want to get drunk, you shouldn't go to swinger's house party. Over drinking may hamper your physical abilities as well as may offend or turn other people off to you.

Sex... and safe sex:

It is up to you to protect yourselves as well as your partners. But with the present concern over sexually transmitted diseases unprotected sex is unacceptable. The use of condoms should not offend anybody.

About cleanliness:

Nothing turns a person off faster and more effectively than a bad body smell. I don't say that you should take a shower 5 times a night, but be clean at anytime. Period. Be prepared for everything. Carry a small overnight bag for lingerie or a robe, hairbrush, comb, toothbrush, cologne, intimate cleansing articles, condoms, etc.

At the end:

If you are a couple, go together - leave together. Never leave with out your mate!

Say thanks:

The social courtesy of a "Thank-You Note" or phone call to someone whose hospitality you enjoyed means a lot to most people. You should say thanks even, if the party wasn't the best party in your life. Always is a next time and the host will surely remember you when planning the next event.

At the party:

The Swingers Lifestyle

The swinging lifestyle, is recreational social sex between consenting adults, most commonly male - female couples meeting other male - female couples for sex and sometimes for ongoing intimate sexual relationships.

The Word Swingers

For most people the word swingers doesn't mean anything. Some others connecting it to the "key" types of house parties. The truth is, for open minded people, before the Internet's "boom", the key party was the only way to meet and have erotic fun with other open minded people. Today in North America only more than 3 million active swingers and a growing number of curious and possible swingers want to be people visits organized lifestyle parties.

The lifestyle has grown so quickly in recent years that, wherever you live, you won't have trouble finding it. It is not an underground group of people anymore. It is a sexual orientation of friendship mainly between couples who claim to have overcome of jealousy.

Sex Used To Be Taboo

In the past sex used to be taboo. Only people who are in love, and married, supposed to have. There is a way today to separate love and sex. Sex can be lot of fun, especially if you share the experience with others in the present of your spouse. Does this mean that sex and love no longer connected? No it doesn't! People still making love with the love one, but can have sex with out love for strictly recreational reason with someone else. If you would like to swing you have to learn how to separate sex and love.

There is Different Between Sex and Love

Open minded people knows there is a different between sex and love. Lifestyle couples visiting thousands of swingers clubs in dozens of countries. They have their own travel industry that flies them to a erotic vacation spots. Lots of them have postgraduate degrees, lots of them are politician and or well know public figures with towering positions. You can find almost any kind of swingers, Evangelicals, Christians, Protestants, Catholics, or Jews.

Swinging - Swingers Lifestyle related FAQ

How should we dress for the party?

Dress depends on the party. Ask your host, or if it in the club other club members. Usual dress will be casual, but neat. If it will be a pajama party you should wear pajamas too. If you don't and everyone else does it, you will feel uncomfortable. But you can wear any dress, just relax. Usually ladies show up very sexy they are trying to make the best impression what they can. Men are dressing casual, but in most of the clubs jeans and running shoes are not allowed.

What about sexual disease

There are many scary diseases, so if you want to practice safe sex make it clear before any serious action happens. Never let anyone dictate to you: No protection. It should be you and your partner's choice. The disease should not be the reason not to swing, because it is easily prevented. I strongly recommend condoms for any type of sexual encounter. This lifestyle is only as safe as you want it to be.

Can we damage our marriage if we get into swinging?

Set up rules and keep them. If they are too tight lose them, but always communicate with your partner. Don't do anything what don't want to do, or what make your partner uncomfortable or jealous. If you swing this way, your marriages will improve and your relationship will be stronger and better all the time.

Dealing with jealousy

Jealousy is a normal problem that many swingers face. The best thing you can do to reduce jealousy, let your partner know if you are jealous. Remember open communications. If you aren't comfortable with something that is going on, tell your partner. If you or your partner honestly can not handle a specific action then just don't do them. Every couple has their own limitations, or if don't have time to set up at that point where both, you and your spouse are most comfortable. If your relationship is in trouble and you think swinging will help, you are wrong. It won't! If you have a close, open relationship, built on honesty and love, swinging will only strengthen that and in these cases none of the partners have a reason to be jealous.

Bisexuality and swinging...

Most people have bisexual curiosity, but it appears ladies into swinging are more willing to try it. Many ladies enjoy the touch of another woman in a swinging situation, but are not necessarily attracted to other women in the rest of their lives. It is just up to the chemistry. However bisexual men are not popular in swinging communities. If you are bisexual let your new partners know it. Sooner is better. Not everyone is into bisexuality. Lots of swingers are straight (100% straight).

Quality or Quantity?

This question usually come from males. Ask any lady, not necessarily a swinger lady, but you can ask any swinging couple too. They'll will give you the same answer. You should not test here yourself how many times you are able to do it. One quality experience is more better then one night long mediocre experiences. But the fore play is never long enough. You can make this as long as long you wish, it just will make better quality.

What is the most important think about swinging?

This is hard to say. What is very important for me, maybe not that important for you. Be be open, clean and positive all the time. If something bothering you, important to let your partner know. It is means the communications important. But I believe the most important thing, one-way or the other have fun, and be sure your partner have some fun too, because if not (it is special if your partner is your wife) maybe that was your last swinging experience with her.

Interest of some men

Attempting to hire an escort or sex worker to go to a swinging event with you, if you don't have a regular female partner, just so you can get in the door is a terribly poor idea, this is considered inappropriate at every club I have ever heard of, is generally sufficient to get you black-listed, and is a ruse that is highly likely to be noticed by others. A related concept is taking along someone who isn't really your primary partner and isn't really interested in swinging; such folks are called "tickets" (i.e. you just used them as a "ticket" to get in the door), and this practice isn't looked upon favorably either. If you want nothing more than to see your female partner have sex with another woman, you will probably be better off forgetting about it until she brings it up; wandering around by yourself attempting to find a woman who wants to have sex with her, or otherwise trying to push this personal choice into happening, is considered quite crass.

Finally, please remember to converse with both members of a couple you and your partner are interested in, not just the partner you are interested in having sex with, ultimately it's your ability to form friendships with COUPLES which will determine the quality of your experience in the swinging community.

Swingers Erotic Story

How did my husband introduce me to the swinging lifestyle? Part I.

I wasn't always into swinging, but once I finally came around to it, I found out that swinging is one of the most dynamic and erotic sexual experiences that a woman can have. At first the idea of watching my hubby to having sex with other woman, turned me off. But I never minded the idea to having XXX fun with other men and women.

My husband, his name is Frank, really wanted to get into swinging. He helped me to see that his love for me was true, and our relationship and our well balanced, but sometimes boring sex life would improve by sharing ourselves with a couple. I have to admit that, the thought of playing with another couple did sound like fun. I could imagine what four horny people can do together in a same bed. And Frank said he knew the perfect couple to do it with. He said his work buddy Andy is a really nice guy and his wife Tammy a pretty and very friendly lady. He said he and Andy been talking about sex a lot lately, that's how the foursome idea came up. And after that they realized that this is their fantasies, and they want to do it. All they had to do was convince the ladies.

We were in bed, when Frank first brought it up. I never met Andy or Tammy, but he told me he is sure I will like them. Just imagine, he said: "You are lying on the bed, I am sucking your boobs, Andy is performing oral sex on you and at the same time he receive a blow job from his wife."

Talking like that he almost had me convinced. After 10 years of marriage I guess I was ready for spice things up in my sex life. The thought to having sex with another man in my husband's presence already turned me on. Frank continued to talk. He gave me detailed explanation what it would be like to have sex with another couple. I was getting hotter and hornier. I could practically feel that other man between my legs.

Frank kept whispering into my ear, telling me how good it would be to have two men serve my sexual needs. While he spoke he gently played with my nipples. He stopped talking and moved his hand to my genital area. He started to rub my clitoris with his finger. My thoughts were racing as I imagined myself making love with two men and a woman. Two hard cocks to play with, two soft boobs to suck on.

I was convinced, but did not tell him yet. He kept himself busy with my boobs. He held them with his hands and sucked them greedily. My breasts are big and hard. They should be, Frank paid almost 5 grand for the silicon implants.

My blood was really boiling. I turned him over so I could get on top. His semi hard big cock lazily flopped on his belly. Holding his shaft by hand I went down on him and deep throated him. Then I sucked his cock head and deep throated again, feeling his cock got hard as a rock. I straddled his body and lowered my juicy pussy into his hard cock. He just laid on his back and let me do all the work. I reached down to my clitoris and started to play with it. I fucked my hubby like someone, who did not have sex the last two years. My fingers went crazy over my clit. My whole body exploded, I came as a tornado. But Frank wasn't finish yet. He turned me over and thrust into me again and again. He thrust into me until he came. Then he collapsed in a heap.

This was the time to tell him, I am ready for a foursome. Just to heard this, immediately got him hard. He screwed me one more time and took him a really long to reach an orgasm. Before he came I had several orgasms.

We invited Andy and Tammy over Saturday night. The days passed by fast. It was already Saturday. I was nervous all day, like a person before the blind date. Actually it was a blind date. Blind date for sex... I never met either of them.

Well as they came to the door my nervousness disappeared. Andy was well tanned, muscular, a good looking man. His wife a pretty little thing with long black hair and a sexy smile.

At the beginning we showed them our home. After that we ended up in the living room. Drinks were made and served to ease the tension. We have talked almost about everything. I realized that, Frank was right, they are a very nice couple.

... I laid on her for a few seconds then sat up. She did too and reached Ernie. She started to clean up his tool with her tongue. When she finished it Ernie was hard again. "Your turn" I said and gave him a condom.... To read all the story and/ or take a look the related photos click here.

Why do heterosexual swingers guys like watching their female partner while having lesbian fun...

I don't think only swingers guys like to see women while having lesbian sex. I am sure most of the guys don't mind to see action like this. Why?

To see two women having sex is very entertaining and very erotic. It might turn on any healthy man. Actually most of the men love to think that they have a chance with two bisexual women, and they hope they can give a orgasm for both. Two women making love is sexy, naughty and extremely erotic. Swinger men love anything that is related to naughty and erotic and sexy women. Also there is something that men can't do. Not every men can have sex with two women, but they think about it...

Two women having sex is biologically unnatural and forbidden in most religions (however with the same sex marriages this one might change). Two women having sex is taboo for a man and this taboo factor plays a lot into it.

Tell men that watching two women having sex is immoral. Tell to them to watching two women touching each other is against almost any religion. Do you think this will stop them? I don't think so.

Also the men designed that way. It is in the men's gene. To spread the life... plus there is a fun factor. Having sex with two women sound like fun for every swinger man.

Maybe there are many more reason why men like to see women while having lesbian fun. Whatever those reasons are, men will always entertain the idea of having sex with two women. They will imagine themselves between the two... because it is impassible to not to be horny when a swinger man see two women that go for it...

Spice Up Your Sex Life

Are you married or living with someone and thinking about "spice" sex up? Are you looking for no commitments recreational sex? Because you are here, I guess you never done this before, and you do not know how to start? You don't know how to introduce your erotic, maybe kinky idea to your spouse. Please keep reading, this page might help you.

Most committed relationships have existed for some time (often for years) before some notion of swinging, recreational sex becomes a topic of conversation. Often it is thought about by one or both partners long before the subject is broached in conversation.

Sometimes shared reading materials, erotic art or videos lead to conversations about some form of recreational sex. Couples need to take advantage of such opportunities... and be totally candid with each other at those times. HONESTY...

The partner who is LEAST interested in venturing beyond regular sex should give the MOST ATTENTION to his/her need to have an open mind. It may be that this person has a lower sex drive than the other one... or lower at this particular point in their life. It may be that this person has medical problems which limit his/her capacity to pleasure their partner. It may be that this person has a lot of hang-up that are carry-overs from their upbringing or religious background. Simply poo-pooing swinging ideas is no way to assure a healthy spousal relationship. Talk about it. Enable each other to open up... to openly and honestly verbalize inner thoughts and wishes. But, most of all... DO NOT BE JUDGMENTAL!

Sometimes it is a good idea for both (all) partners to read TRUE stories about what other adult men and women do in their exploration of swinging sex. To read is not necessarily a commitment to do! Then, discuss what you have read. Use the Internet to discretely discuss your concerns and questions with others... while remaining anonymous.

At some point, a loving adult couple should AT LEAST venture into some shared voyeurism or exhibitionism. Go together to some place of adult entertainment. Both could dress sexily/handsomely and go out to a bar, dance hall, lounge, etc. somewhere away from home. Dance with others. Enjoy the experience of seeing your spouse in the arms of another... or of seeing others relish the sexy appearance of your spouse.

Ladies... let a little flesh show! Wear a skirt or dress that is shorter than you normally would wear. Wear a low-cut blouse or sweater. Consider leaving that bra at home. You may even want to leave your panties at home... and not tell your spouse until you are out in public, and his imagination can run wild.

Men... take your spouse to places you haven't taken her before... a "meat-market" bar, an adult theatre, a topless beach, a strip club. Let her know you enjoy watching other guys ogle her lovely, sexy body. Encourage her to let other guys invite her to dance. Give her some space so other guys will step in and express their admiration of her charms.

Then... both (all) of you can go home and enjoy memories of your "crazy night out."

Or, openly (but discretely) engage in some sexual fondling where other adults may observe you. Whether or not you ever physically involve others in your sex life, this kind of shared fun can be a real sexual stimulator for both of you.

When you are out of town, spending a night in a hotel... leave the window shades open while you make love. Allow for the possibility that others MAY be watching (even if they aren't). It is a great way to put spirit back into your sexual sharing. When you do this, talk dirty to each other. Believe me... IT'S FUN!

Invite a masseur to your hotel room to give her a nude massage while he watches and/or participates... or a masseuse for a nude massage of him while she watches and/or participates. It doesn't have to end up having that extra person actually having sex with either of you... but it could. Either way, it can be a great turn-on to both (all) of you.

Check out the ads in the Personals section of your local newspaper and / or the Internet to learn about local swingers dances. Get dressed up sexy, and go to one. Going doesn't mean you intend to actually swap with anyone. Just enjoy the evening... watching the open sexuality of other adults who (you know) will probably end up spending time later that night in bed with someone other than their spouse. Just watching can be a real turn-on. Then again, you might just meet folks you want to get to know better.

Even if you don't want to swing, you might meet folks who are active swingers, and decide to spend some time with them at a lounge or restaurant... just getting to know them and asking about their lifestyle. This is still not a commitment to do anything in the swinging scene. You may end up just using the experience as fodder for a wilder sex life between the two of you.

Even if you end up going to an on-premise swing club, adult motel or similar adult facility... it doesn't mean either, both or all of you have to get involved in the sexual activity with others. All such facilities have a "NO means NO" policy to protect folks from over-aggressive swingers. I have met numerous couples who go to such places just for the visual and erotic stimulation, and then end up screwing each other, only each other... either at the facility or later back at home.

TREATING YOUR SPOUSE TO THE GIFT ON AN EXTRA PARTNER

A couple which enjoys genuinely open communication on sexual matters may eventually agree that under the right circumstances, and with the right person one or both of the parties might be willing to try sex with another person outside the committed relationship. If the person expressing the "maybe" is the person who has been least interested in experiencing another person, that is the person who should experience an extra partner first.

When that happens, the other party should consider CREATING a right circumstance with a reasonably right extra person... as a gift to the other spouse. Often this will involve observing what and who turns that other party on. Is it a friend, a non-friend who is a person of a different race, or a younger or older person. Is he/she most turned-on to others while away from your hometown... at a dance... at the beach? Is it at home in front of the fireplace when a guest is visiting?

Once the right setting is determined, and a reasonably right extra person is present, the next thing you need to do is to make sure that clothing is minimized. That is why strip poker is so popular. But, there are numerous other games (such as Truth or Dare, etc.) and excuses for causing clothes to be shed. At the beach, clothing is already minimized. To enable a massage, it is reasonable for clothing to be minimized or removed. Shared hot tub experiences often involve nudity or near-nudity.

Take the lead in providing your spouse with intimate touches, kisses, or strokes. Encourage your guest to follow your lead. Then let things progress as everyone's comfort level is observed. Somewhere along the way, let the extra him or her know that you welcome sharing your spouse's intimacy with them. Give them a reason to feel comfortable as things develop. Assure your spouse that you welcome watching him/her enjoy the attentions of your guest. As your spouse begins to relax with the situation, whisper into his/her ear that "tonight is a special gift for you to enjoy."

REINFORCE HIS/HER ENJOYMENT

Once things are underway, it is critically important that you repeatedly verbalize and demonstrate your approval. Cuddle or kiss your spouse as the guest is providing more intimate stimulation. Whisper words of love or encouragement to your spouse as he/she is getting turned-on by whatever the guest is doing to him/her.

If the encounter moves to intercourse with the guest; participate by holding, kissing and/or cuddling your spouse during and after the intimacy. Above all, make sure your spouse experiences orgasmic pleasure... even if you have to step in to complete what has been started. If it has been good for both of them, encourage all to cuddle and hug and rest together. If it has been less than good for your spouse, nudge the guest aside and make sure it is good for him/her.

Let there be a period of time after intimacy has concluded for the three of you to relax and talk. Maybe there will be another round of shared pleasure. Maybe there will be some open expressions of how things went by your guest, your spouse, or you. After the guest has left, demonstrate your passion for your spouse with lots of kisses, caressing, cuddling and intimacy.

If things went well, be sure that both you and your spouse have contact with the guest soon after the night of shared pleasure. Plan toward a second time for the three of you together. Don't let it be a one-night stand up... and don't push for your own extra partner at this point.

If things did not go well (and sometimes they don't), thank the guest, and plan on a (strictly-social) contact with that person in the near future just to give them a chance to review their thoughts away from the situation. AND, give your spouse extra loving and emotional support. Don't let a less-than-successful one-time event be allowed to set the expectation level of either you or your spouse. Plan to try it again soon (with someone else), while the best parts of a less-than-successful encounter are still prominent in each of your minds.

Assuming it was a pleasurable experience for both you and your spouse, re-live it over and over again during your shared one-on-one lovemaking. Plan a second and third "gift" for him/her, before ever pushing for an extra partner for yourself. Sometimes this last piece of advice is not necessary, but if there is a disparity in desire for variety (between spouses), it is wise to give the more hesitant spouse a few really good "extra partner" experiences before suggesting that turn about is fair play.

Finally, don't give your spouse the idea that overnight you want to change your entire lifestyle... that you want an extra person in your sex life every night. Make a pact that extra partner sex is the spice you can both add to your everyday shared sex life. Re-live the experiences as you cuddle at night... and agree to explore such new adventures on an occasional basis (depending upon the couple, that may end up quarterly, monthly or weekly). But, once you and your spouse have invited an extra person into your sex life once, don't let it stop there. Invite that person back, or (better yet) invite a new person next time.

SHARED SEX CAN RE-NEW RELATIONSHIPS

One couple often wrote to me before they made the intentional decision to try swinging. After their first few experiences, he wrote: "Our life together has never been better. There is so much we do together, sexually and emotionally, that it's like we are newlyweds again, as if we are sharing a second life together."

He went on, "I have enjoyed another woman, my first "other woman." It was thrilling and exciting, and gave me a window into (my wife's) desires." Later he treated his wife to an extra guy.

But, before that, they had an experience with another couple. After that experience the two of them had a fantastic night of sex together, reliving their new sexual adventure. Her note the next day, "WHAT A NIGHT!!! We had the best night of our marriage. It was more exciting than our first time, and more magical than any fantasy!!!"

She also went on to say, "Why I waited so long I'll never understand. Things are going along so splendidly. Our love-making is better than ever. My husband has been so tender and loving with me. Sometimes I yearn for it to be a little rough, but I'm not complaining. I intend to tell him that I want it different from time to time (our new openness), but for now, I just want him to love me any way he wants.

"I told him that last night was wonderful (the night of our first MFM threesome). I had never been more pleased. But, that it wasn't the other guy I was thinking about. I only saw him as an extension of my husband.

"Everything that happened was centered around me. But, for me, all the sex, all the fucking, was my dear husband pleasuring me. I don't know if that makes sense. It does somehow to me. I want to be able to explain it better to my loving mate.

"We have new feelings to explore, to cultivate and to allow to grow. It's almost like meeting and courting anew. Can't really explain it. I've heard of people who have found higher levels to their relationships, but this is like he has met a new person, a new me, and he doesn't even know the heights we can go to together, nor do I yet."

Never have sex with a friend. Why not?

A lot of people have given me the advice in my younger days: Never have sex with a friend.

Why not?

Sex with a friend not just for lesbian roommates. I think everyone (strait, gay lesbian or bi sexual) should try to have sex with a friend. It is really enjoyable and comfortable situation. You know your friend and your friend knows you. There should not be any pressure to be perfect. You are allowed to be the person who you are. You do not have to try to be perfect, because your friend might know anyway you are not.

In friendship you are perfectly aware of each other and accept each other. Friends honest with each other about birth control and protection. Friends are for have fun together and be there to help when help is needed even if this help mean to balance the un-balanced sex life or spice think up in a bedroom.

And for extra, friends can laugh when things do not work out perfectly, because they know it, they can try it again at anytime. Friends are not lovers so they are not jealous, therefore they give to the another maximum freedom.

A lot of people know this. That is why so many swinger's ads start like this: We are looking for friends and maybe more!

Swinging tends to be popular...

As swinging tends to be very popular and more popular day by day, no one really can be certain how many people are involved. According to the latest worldwide statistic more than 10 million people say openly "I am a swinger". Without numbers we can say that, there are more swingers than you could hope to meet in several lifetimes, and the numbers grow daily.

What sort of people are we likely to meet in swinging?

Any type, any age, any race and any occupation.

How can I start?

The best way is to go directly to a swingers club. There will be real people less pressure, and more options. All of them are there for the same reason. Looking for adult fun. And, don't just go once, there will probably be different people in attendance at different times. If you can't find clubs nearby or simply looking for a new experience, try the Internet. You are reading this title now so you already know how to find a competitive partner on the net! Browse through this site and try us!

Where to I should post our personal ad?

It's easy enough to find sites that claim to be meeting places for swingers, it's too easy, in fact, for there are hundreds out there. Our best advice, try us. You can try us free. You will have one full page ad and to the other page you can post a picture. You will have a private mail box and you can leave a voice mail too. When your trial period is over, you can make a decision, take it, or leave it. No questions will be asked. If you do not like our service try to avoid web sites that aren't honest up front about their requirements and charges. Finally, we suggest that a site that keeps pestering the viewer with additional windows or that is difficult to exit is probably not going to prove as sincere as you might prefer. Before you post your ad please read our ad writing ideas.

What about safe sex?

Swinging is as safe as you want it to be! Of course is some risk are there, but in the today's world is risks are everywhere! Condom usage among swingers varies widely. At clubs that have a very open membership, where people often have sex with folks they've never met before, condoms are quite common. But, you just never can tell. So, even if you believe that condoms are the antithesis of intimacy, we advise packing your rubbers wherever you go.

Are swingers bisexual?

This depends on their gender. There seems to be more bisexual females. It is really hard to say numbers here but some women enjoy playing with women, but prefer men for sex. Some others sometimes will play with, women and some find the idea distasteful. Men are pretty much the other way around. You could swing for a long time and never run across a man who preferred sex with men over sex with women. Very few of swingers men would admit that they are bisexual.

If swinging is a couple's activity, why do clubs allow single people to attend?

Many clubs do not allow singles, others only allow them on certain nights, some allow single females but not single males, and others allow both, but usually with some restrictions on the number of single males. The higher rate of bisexuality among women is the rationale most often stated for permitting single females. The higher endurance of women is the rationale most often stated for permitting single males. We suspect, however, that the higher amounts of money to be made by charging single males more than the normal admission is the real reason that many clubs follow this practice. [Expressing this view will no doubt cost us some "friends" in the business, but our sense of fairness and equality demands it. If greed is not the motive, then single females and males should only be admitted in equal numbers and for an equal price.]

Is it a good idea to invite my swinging friends to a party with my non-swinging friends?

Are the swingers really friends? If so, you should certainly be able to trust them not to do anything rude or revealing at your party. Are the non-swingers really friends? If so, you surely have told them about your lifestyle and they will treat any of your other friends with courtesy. But, if these folks are simply social acquaintances, and they do not know anything about your swinging lifestyle, then you will need to give the matter more consideration.

What about my job? Aren't I putting it at risk by swinging?

It depends on where do you live and work. Some North American cities are very conservative. It has happened before people have lost their jobs because their swinging life was discovered. I don't think it will happen today if you do not mix work with your personal life. Sometimes police raids on clubs have happened, in conservative cities, but almost never are the clientele given any trouble, just the operators. Swingers we have known include doctors, dentists, lawyers, teachers, media personalities, high-ranking military officers and intelligence personnel, and members of several local police departments. Some were more cautious than other, but they all managed to enjoy themselves. If you have a sensitive job, you should choose your partner very carefully and never from your work place.

What if I meet someone in the swingers club I know?

Nothing. Anyone you meet is there too, for the same reason... Having fun. So say hello and enjoy yourselves. The best advice is, sometimes is good to have a bad memory. In this case if you left the club, you should not remember who were the people inside and what they did with who...

How can we be sure we'll like swinging?

You can't if you will not try. Most of the swingers couples have an unpleasant swinging experience. Usually it happen with new couples. That's okay. Figure out what went wrong and try again. If you or your partner still do not like it, give it up. Never push your partner.

How Can Swing A Single Man

Explained by a Woman

I am a single female and I will be single for a while. However the fact I am single doesn't mean that I don't need men in my life. Of course I do, (and more than one) but not for a mate. I am a straight woman and I need men for sex. So should I get married? No, I can not imagine myself to wake up every morning next to the same guy the rest of my life. It won't work, because I have great appetite for sex with different kind of men...

Some people say to find a sexual partner is easy for a woman. They think, women - single or married - just have to walk into to the first bar or night club, and more than a few males will be willing to serve her sexual needs. Maybe they are right, but I am talking about a competitive sex partner for quality sex. To find a competitive male sex partner not that simple for a single women. By the way no woman should looking for sex partner in a regular bar, except if she is looking for a one night stand.

The website like this or the swingers club is the best place to find experienced male lovers.

First I would place an ad and because a picture tells more than a 1000 words I always place an photo ad with a text something like: "Single woman looking for a single guy for casual sex. Contact me with photo only. G rated okay." Plus I explain clearly what I like and what I want. Usually I get few hundred replies in a two weeks time period. Two weeks might produce 4 good replies. All the others are just a waste of the time. They fail for simple reasons.

I always make it clear what I want and what I don't, and what I like and what I don't. I guess a few of the guys don't read my ad until the end. They wrote something like this: "I have got a 10 inches long and 6 inches thick cock, and I can go all night long". A 10 inch long cock is very nice, but I am not looking for guy with a 10 inch cock. I asked contact with picture only and they did not attach a picture of themselves. I don't deal with replies like this.

A 10 inch cock is nice, but for me the size is not everything. Maybe there are women who don't care about the guys, only if they have extra large dick. But I care more about the guy's human value, than his dick. I like guys who introduce themselves with a few friendly words and let me know what they like and don't, their location etc. They prove that, they have read my ad and they can provide those things that I looking for. Also they attach a G rated pictures. If they have a 10 inches cock, I will find out it anyway when the times comes....

The next category is a cute and muscular guy's category.

With every ad I place, I get several replies that are said: "I am nice and cute". Please attach a picture and let me decide how cute you are. Who is cute for one, might not be cute for others. It is Exactly the same for muscular men. If you are muscular attach a photo and I will see it. Talk about your value, that I can not see on the picture.

How To Write Swingers Ads

How To Read Adult Personals:

Very carefully and check all the words. The best word by word. When you are finished and think the description what the ad looking for is you, send your answer. Of course if somebody looking for a couple and you are a single man, not the best idea to answer.

Very Rude:

If someone is responding to your ad you should answer too, even if your answer will be no thanks. The only time when you are not rude if somebody writes to you, and he/she is not even close what you are looking for. Example: If you are looking for girlfriend, and some male wrote to you, you wont be rude if ignore his mail.

Adult Personals And Rules:

Who ever wrote the ad - made the rules. Take it or leave it. If she is looking for a maximum 30 years old non smokers, and you are 55 and heavy smokers - don't even waste your time to write response. Wont work.

Be Short:

If the ad is not asking your resume, don't send it. Be clear and short.

How To Write Good Adult Personal Ad:

Be clear and short again. Describe yourself with creative descriptions (and be honest). You do not write I am Barbie, if you short and your weight is over 1000 LBS. Don't write I like to go out, watch movies and listening music. Lot of peoples like that! Better to give some details. Let them know what you like and don't like! Remember: You write the ad - you make the rules!

Don't Write In Your Adult Profile:

I am funny guy. If you are funny, make your ad funny too.

Keep In Your Mind:

The age is not everything, but counts. Your age, your marital status and have children or don't is important, especially if you are looking for somebody for long relationship.

Give some idea what kind of person or persons you are looking for, but don't over do it. Not to good idea making a picky ad. Nobody will respond. Try to use popular words, like: active, ambitious, bashful, charring, cheerful, classic, creative, dependable, easygoing, elegant, erotic, friendly, fierily, fit, flexible, generous, good lover, good kisser, honest, hot, horny, intelligent, intense, joyous, joyful, kinky, loyal, modest, mature, nice, open minded, optimistic, patient, romantic, pretty, professional, serious, smart, sweet, swinger, swinger couple, vibrant, vivacious, warm, wonderful, wild, wholesome, young, etc. If you looking for sex only with no commitment make it clear at the beginning.

Swinging is not just wild sex anymore. Swingers love to build friendship, love to socialize. The education level and lately the religion important facts for serious swingers.

Attach Pictures With Your Adult Profile:

It is recommended to attach a picture. Without picture you wont go further than a couple of e-mails. By adding your picture to your profile you're not only increasing the amount of people who will click on your ad, you are also decreasing the amount of people who may not be into your looks and won't bother you with useless responses. If you attached picture with your profile, you can ask: "Respond with photo only". It will save you a lot of time. If you worry about your privacy and discretion and you don't want revealing your identity cover you face. If this is not enough for you, than put a sentence at the end of your profile: "Your photo will get mine", or "Pictures available to exchange prior to meeting".

You don't need a photo made by professional photographer. A medium quality amateur picture will do the job. You would like to get people physically attracted to you, so you should show as much of your body as much you dare. Your body, not your genital area only!

What To Do and What Not To Do:

The list is almost endless, how to write an how to respond to an ad, but if you keep in your mind what you read above, your change to find someone will be pretty big.

How To Host Erotic Swingers Sex Parties

The most important factor is the people with ability and willingness to participate in a swinger sex party. Swinging is not for everyone, so if you are thinking about hosting a sex party you have to know people who will participate in your party. The next thing to decide is what sort of a party you want to have.

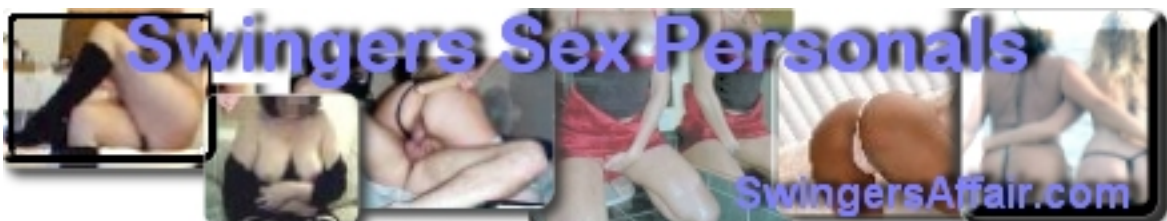

Some parties are for couples only, some are mixed, some like orgies, and some have playrooms for fun, some use the whole house and some are organized in a hotel room. As you can see, there are a lot of things that you have to deal with.

The First Step Is The Invitation

Most people really want to go to a sex party, but more or less conscious mental barriers stop them from going for what they want. Help them. Make it clear they can leave at any time. Or you can invite experienced swingers only, but every swinger is looking for new sex partners all the time. If you would like to have a really good party you should invite people with swinging experience and people who are curious first timers (new bie).

From this point you have to concentrate a little more on the first timers. They have to know that, you are inviting them to an erotic swingers sex party. Probably they will have a lot of things in their mind. You have to explain to them there is nothing to be scared of NO means NO. Ask them what do they got to lose? If they are really serious they will accept your invitation because they don't want to wonder about what could have happened if they had the courage to go.

Usually first timers will not leave the sex party. They have never participated in one and they cannot know what it is like. They are there for a reason, most likely they have an erotic fantasy and they will probably give it a try. For this reason you should let invite first timers to the event even if they beforehand declare that they are not going to do too much. I know that, it takes a bit of courage to invite first timers to a swingers sex party. Do it anyway. You could send out written invitations (email) if you prefer not to speak with them. Ask them to confirm the attendance.

Are You Looking For No Commitment Sex Only? Click Here And Take a Look!

Swingers sex parties should be held late in the night. At late night people have calmer energy, and are more in the mood for pleasure. To make the party successful even at late night, there should be about the same number of male and female participants. It is a very bad idea to invite more males than females. However it might happen some couples would like to bring their "boy toy". You have to be careful with extra men. Its okay, but let them know they coming together and leaving together and the boy toy has to stick with them. However extra males might create intrigues (especially if they never participated in a party like yours) and intrigues are very destructive to the party. You don't want a couple to leave; because one of the extra males wasn't behaving in a proper way. On the other hand some women's fantasy is to make love with two men at once. You do not necessarily need an extra guy for this, even if you have two couples at present....

About The Alcohol Intake Alcohol or Sex...

To parties like this people usually bring they own alcohol. Many people feel more self confident if they drinking a little alcohol. Little alcoholic beverage is okay, however you do not need drunk people on your party. Of course, it works very well to let the participants drink alcohol. Alcohol is easy to blame, and in addition, critical thoughts are silenced while the sex drive is amplified. Too much alcohol can destroy your party. Drunken people often behave badly, and that may make other people leave.

Go Slowly - Very Slowly

To help people overcome their own mental barriers, you should make sure that the action is slow. Everybody must want to go further some time before they actually do. Everybody should be horny and everybody should turned on. If someone gets into right to the action, for example goes directly from massage to penetration, others may start to think "I don't want to do that!" Participants who rush destroy everybody else's mood. The whole group should be doing the same sort of things at the same time. Encourage the slowest. Hold back the quickest. Even if everybody is ready to go straight to the action, you should hold back. The longer you hold back the sexual energy, the stronger it will be when you let it loose.

At some point, unexpected things will start to happen. Let them happen. Do not disturb the group unless something or someone is threatening the entire party.

Starting Activities

You might start with playing games. Laughing together makes people ease up and creates a friendly atmosphere. Use games that for example include being blindfolded and holding hands. Dancing while being blindfolded and find out who is your dance partner etc. Or strip poker. The losers have to take off a piece of their clothe. Do not use games in which the losers must leave the room. That would only make them passive.

People usually want what they cannot have. Therefore, if you play a game nobody should partnering with her/his permanent partner. This will make them start to talk with each other.

Start With Erotic Games

The most difficult part of any erotic party, is how to start the erotic part. You can start with erotic games, like the one I mentioned above. Or give a fourhanded massage for somebody. For example two ladies give a massage for one man, and then opposite way. At once thinks have to start somehow. This is why you should invite experienced couple. They will know how and when to start to get serious.

It might happen, by now someone was leaving. It is okay anybody have a right to leave at any time. If somebody walked a way you should tell the others he/she or they chickened out. This might stop others to leave. However if nobody left your party yet, probably they will not leave until the end, because serious erotic activities might started around them. People love sex, that's why they are at your sex party and they will not leave until they haven't try why they are there.

Swingers Sex Party

Entering a swinger's sex party should be as walking into a world where the usual norms for acceptable behavior are set aside. If you organize the party in your house you should make a room seem like another world. You can stimulate as many senses as possible. Use air freshener or incense that smell good. The place should be warm and pleasant. Provide suitable erotic or romantic music. If you can, remove the furniture that is not going to be used in your party. A few mattresses or something soft on the floor will give hints about what is going to happen. Set the lightening lower and have condoms everywhere in this room. Just for the hint and maybe emergency only. People usually prefer they own favorite brand anyway. Make it clean safe sex or no sex. Be careful with candles. They create a good atmosphere, but you don't want to set fire or your house.

First Time Swingers Couples

First timer couples and ladies who do not participates in the actual sex, should be allowed to come and look into this room, even if they declared that they are not going to do too much (they may try!). Single men with out sex partner should not be in this room. No expectation! You should have drinking water in the room, and it should be possible to rest some minutes before rejoining. Also paper towels should be in the room.

You should try to make your sex party an aesthetic event, to avoid the porn feeling.

Is sex party aesthetic and sensual? Or is it a cool party? Or an expression of raw, sexual lust to fulfill the participant erotic fantasy... Like anything else in the life what is aesthetic and cool for one that is disgusting for others.

Sex With Multiple Sex Partners

Lots of people think sex with multiple partners is immoral. They should not judge anybody, until they didn't try it. Some others believe, they have only one life and they want to enjoy it to the max.

Hard Core Swingers Sex Party

Participation in a hard core swingers sex party should be your own decision. However you should know swinging is much more than sex... but no commitment sex is a important part of it! Also not every swingers party is a hard core sex party. Plus in some countries illegal to organize and held on-premises parties (which is mean intercourse allowed on the premises) and in some others illegal to organize in a public place in a restaurants or in a hotel room. If you would like to have information how to organize a "regular" swingers party check out this web page.

End Here At The End

You never plan the end of the party. It will end, whenever it ends. Usually not until the next morning, when everyone used all of their sexual energy....

How Can You Get Into The Swingers Lifestyle

This page is intend to give some basic information for open minded people, who want to get into the lifestyle, but don't know how to start and what to expect at their first erotic party. The holiday party season is a big opportunity to have some real erotic fun, but you have to make it to your first party. If you are really serious about it, then it is time to get a babysitter.

Before we go any further I should let you know that to get into the lifestyle is very easy for couples and single women. It is harder for single men. Single guys usually get into the lifestyle by a couple. A couple invite him to join them, a couple introduce for him the lifestyle. However I am not here to talk about how can swing a single man. If you are looking for swinging info for single men, you can find it at next>>>.

Also before we go any further you should know that women in the lifestyle are not prostitutes and they are not slut. In our sexually open word women have as much right to have orgasm as men. Women have as much right to screw someone as men. Internet dating make easy to find partner for unapologetically no-strings-attached, purely wild sexual experience. Women, in other words, have right to act like men.

X-mas and New Year just around the corner. If you would like to spend the Holidays as erotic as possible, then it is time to make your plan.

Would you like to celebrate the Holidays at a wicked party, but you do not know where to find a wicked party? Check out our sister web site Upcoming Parties list. We guarantee you will find a party close to your location! Or you can organize your own party. Try our search form at the top, contact few curios people and let's have a party!

If you have not organized erotic party before, probably your first party wont be erotic party at all. People don't know how to start and most of the time talking all night. The best you can do visit one of the local swingers club. You will get some ideas what to do and you will get to know few people who knows how to party.

Swingers club is a place where people enjoy dressing up in sexy outfit, meet to celebrate their open sexuality and to hang out with likeminded people. It's best described like being at a regular disco where people are drinking and dancing, but people are wearing various sexy outfits, or in some cases wear or nothing at all!

The first major milestone in the lifestyle to "coming out" to visit a swingers club. Meeting other likeminded people of both sexes, might leads to new opinions and no commitment erotic friendships might be formed.

For me personally, going to a swingers club really made a huge difference! I got in touch with the local community, true in a website like this. I felt completely accepted and ultimately made a lot of new friends! Sure I was nervous the first time. But I got over it pretty quick, when I been in the club for a couple of hour. People were very understanding and made me feel at home. Today I would not be without my open minded friends. They are like a family away from home.

If you don't you will not have sexual relationship with me.

About photo attachments. Don't send heavy files. Everything is bigger than 300K consider heavy. Make that picture file small. Lots of guys email a photo, including with all their living room or their car and the guy is just a small part of the pictures. I do not interested in your car, I just would like to see you. Please cut that picture. Not everybody has a broadband internet connection, and large files take times to download, and few of them in the inbox fill fill up any email program's inbox. The second mistake to send close genital pictures. Woman like me have see male genitals. If I want to see it, I will ask. If the ad doesn't ask for it, don't email it. If things goes fine, I will see it for real....

The next category is the head game. I got to the point when I selected few ads. Email comes, email goes, photo exchanges, IM or ICQ chats and everything looks fine. Time to set up meetings. Few ads fail again. Owners of those ads always find some excuse not to meet. Family problems, workplace problems, sickness. The excuses are endless. These guys are the head gamers. They just waste my time. Why they do this? I am not sure, maybe the pictures what they mailed are not their own, maybe they are married or who knows why....

I always hope that first replies are true from the guys and those guys know what it means sex only. I have talked about this problem with other swinger ladies and this is one of their biggest problems also.

Single guys complain a lot about not getting anywhere with swinger women and with swinger couples. They complain how hard it is for them to get into the lifestyle. If you are a single man and read all the above you know why. If you would like to be active and "successful" in the lifestyle, as a single guy, see the above few things and keep them in your mind. Plus be clean and polite all the time. And when the possibility comes, be up for it. Don't give up. If one of your first try did not work out, be sincere and try again. Sooner or later you will find what you looking for. And if you get into the lifestyle and you are "good" the news flies fast. People will refer you to their friends... and you can have as much fun, as much as you wish.

Erotic Dating Advice For Couples Who Would Like To Swing

Dating advice for people who would like to swing is not that much different from dating advice for anyone else. After all, everyone is looking for a date or sex partner they are compatible with, who will show mutual respect and affection. It can be more difficult, however, to know how to begin swinging since there are nuances and potential problems that are unique to dating when you are looking for no commitment sex partners only. Well I have some advice for you.

The most important is, you should be open.

If the person or persons you are attracted to is already a friend, and you know that they are swingers you should deal with it honestly and be straight-forward. Simply admit that you are attracted to the lifestyle and you are attracted to them and ask them to get together on an official date. If they say they do not really think of you as a matching sex partner, you should ask them to introduce you to the lifestyle and or introduce you to some of their open minded friend. If they do introduce you to someone, then everything else is up to you. If they say they don not think about you as a sex partner, because they think this lifestyle is not for you, then you are you own. In this case you have to looking for no commitment sex partner somewhere else.

Where can you find dating partner for casual sex?

Check out adult video stores or adult bookstores in your area. They usually carry adult lifestyle magazine with local ads. You may find erotic ads form people in your neighborhood. If you do not find any interesting ads you can ask the staff is there any swingers club around. They might give you the club location and or contact info. Also lot of adult adult store has bulletin board. Check it out – bulletin board in adult store will often list special events that can be a great place to meet open minded people.

If non of the above works, you have to consider the internet. There are more then few dating sites offer opportunities to meet open minded people in everywhere. Probably even in your city too or close to your city. For example you can check out our erotic sex personals and you will see how many people looking for no commitment sex partner in your city, and in your neighborhood.

Lot of people say that, swinging is couples game. Definitely there are lot of couples in the lifestyle and definitely couples or single woman get into the lifestyle very easy. If you are a single guy and you want to swing, you have to work a little to get started, but if you want something hard enough to happen, and if you do your homework, it sooner or later will happen.

You can browse our website and our partners website for information how can start to swing a single man.

Swinging is as safe as you want it to be! Of course is some risk are there, but in the today's world is risks are everywhere! Condom usage among swingers varies widely. At clubs that have a very open membership, where people often have sex with folks they've never met before, condoms are quite common. But, you just never can tell. So, even if you believe that condoms are the antithesis of intimacy, we advise packing your rubbers wherever you go.

Are swingers bisexual?

This depends on their gender. There seems to be more bisexual females. It is really hard to say numbers here but some women enjoy playing with women, but prefer men for sex. Some others sometimes will play with, women and some find the idea distasteful. Men are pretty much the other way around. You could swing for a long time and never run across a man who preferred sex with men over sex with women. Very few of swingers men would admit that they are bisexual.

If swinging is a couple's activity, why do clubs allow single people to attend?

Many clubs do not allow singles, others only allow them on certain nights, some allow single females but not single males, and others allow both, but usually with some restrictions on the number of single males. The higher rate of bisexuality among women is the rationale most often stated for permitting single females. The higher endurance of women is the rationale most often stated for permitting single males. We suspect, however, that the higher amounts of money to be made by charging single males more than the normal admission is the real reason that many clubs follow this practice. [Expressing this view will no doubt cost us some "friends" in the business, but our sense of fairness and equality demands it. If greed is not the motive, then single females and males should only be admitted in equal numbers and for an equal price.]

Is it a good idea to invite my swinging friends to a party with my non-swinging friends?

Are the swingers really friends? If so, you should certainly be able to trust them not to do anything rude or revealing at your party. Are the non-swingers really friends? If so, you surely have told them about your lifestyle and they will treat any of your other friends with courtesy. But, if these folks are simply social acquaintances, and they do not know anything about your swinging lifestyle, then you will need to give the matter more consideration.

What about my job? Aren't I putting it at risk by swinging?

It depends on where do you live and work. Some North American cities are very conservative. It has happened before people have lost their jobs because their swinging life was discovered. I don't think it will happen today if you do not mix work with your personal life. Sometimes police raids on clubs have happened, in conservative cities, but almost never are the clientele given any trouble, just the operators. Swingers we have known include doctors, dentists, lawyers, teachers, media personalities, high-ranking military officers and intelligence personnel, and members of several local police departments. Some were more cautious than other, but they all managed to enjoy themselves. If you have a sensitive job, you should choose your partner very carefully and never from your work place.

What if I meet someone in the swingers club I know?

Nothing. Anyone you meet is there too, for the same reason... Having fun. So say hello and enjoy yourselves. The best advice is, sometimes is good to have a bad memory. In this case if you left the club, you should not remember who were the people inside and what they did with who...

How can we be sure we'll like swinging?

You can't if you will not try. Most of the swingers couples have an unpleasant swinging experience. Usually it happen with new couples. That's okay. Figure out what went wrong and try again. If you or your partner still do not like it, give it up. Never push your partner.
